

Halstatt Hires Chief Financial Officer

Halstatt is pleased to announce that we have hired Glen Griffin as Chief Financial Officer. Griffin will be responsible for Halstatt's financial management activities including external reporting, internal analysis and tax matters. He will assist Halstatt Real Estate Partners with the execution and management of LP fund structures and be responsible for the oversight of the funds' third-party administrator as well as other professional service providers.

"Glen's impressive background is a direct fit for Halstatt's evolving and maturing needs. We have been growing both in terms of assets under management and through the diversity of our investment portfolio. Glen's unique blend of fund management and tax experience will help foster the next phase of Halstatt's growth. I am excited and pleased to welcome him to the team," said Katie Sproul, chief executive officer, Halstatt.

Griffin has more than 25 years of accounting, tax and fund reporting experience. He spent nine years in public accounting with KPMG and PwC primarily focused on U.S. tax matters. He has also served as the Chief Financial Officer for several registered alternative investment fund advisers. He spent the majority of his career working with Concordia Advisors, a global multi-strategy investment adviser for institutional investors.

About Halstatt

Halstatt is a family owned investment firm headquartered in Naples, Fla. Katie Sproul, Halstatt's CEO is the great granddaughter of Barron Gift Collier, the founder of Collier County, Fla. The Sproul family has been instrumental in the development of Florida for more than half a century. Halstatt and its network of affiliated firms manage Halstatt's capital across a broad range of asset classes as well as that of a select number of family office and institutional investors.